Commodore's Column

Mal Singerman, Tieve Owna

This month's Remarks will do a lot to polish your Commodore's reputation for laconic communications. Anne Marie and I are at anchor, about 50 yards off the ICW channel, in Mosquito Lagoon (28 degrees 50.076N, 080 degrees 48.3976 W), three days out of Fort Lauderdale on our way to Rock Hall. And...I'm writing this with one finger on Anne Marie's iPad. So: more to follow when I have access to a real keyboard. Will we make it to the Bay for the Memorial Day cruise ? Good question.

Vice Commodore's Report

Joe Powers, Aquavit

We had a nice dinner at The Italian Market on April 21st. Seven members were attendance, including Joe and Margie Powers, Richard Payne, Dave and Janet Ewing, and Frank and Liz Cingel. The Cingels also brought their friends Patty Parrish and Rick Denman.

There was much discussion of the mild winter and preparations for the sailing season. There was also some discussion of the successful building project at the Belvedere Yacht Club to provide an alternative housing option for a pair of Osprey. The pole mounted platform was acceptable to the osprey and kept them out of the sailboat rigging. I'm sure Glenn and Richard are also happy about that.

There are no on-shore get-togethers planned for May. June 9th will be a sail or drive dinner at Thursday's Steak and Crabhouse in Galesville.

We'll see you on the water!

Fleet Captain's Report

Dave Nance, Ariel

For most of us winter never came and now summer is rapidly approaching. April went past in a flash and our fleet members are in preparation or enroute to Chesapeake Bay for another season.

The summer schedule is located on this web site under the "cruise schedule" tab so click on it and remind yourselves of the places we will be, and plan for the joy of sailing on "our" fabulous bay and the enjoyment of good fellowship with fellow sailors.

See you all at the first raft up on Memorial Day at Dividing Creek off the Wye River!
